

Allen Central Middle Tours UofL Cancer Center

Students from Allen Central Middle School in Floyd County, KY recently visited the labs at the James Graham Brown Cancer Center. They got a first hand look at how University of Louisville Scientists are using computers across their school district to fight deadly cancer. Students were in Louisville for a math competition.

